

You flipped out,
When in a fit
of apparent madness,
Cold cruelty, or rage,
I threw garlic powder
At your face
And called you a garlic lover, Nothing but
a dirty garlic lover,
And left for good

In reality, it was all for the best.

I hear you Haven't had anemia for a while.

I'm sorry.